WILL THE COLLEGE GATES BE CLOSED
TO YOUR CHILD BECAUSE YOU HAVE NOT MADE THE NECESSARY PREPARATIONS
WELL IN ADVANCE

It has a harsh sound to even suggest that the college gate may be closed to your child, for the gateways to learning are always open.

Many thousands of boys and girls, however, have found that although the college gates are open, they could not enter them.

These youths may have been prepared, but their parents were not. These young students were looking forward to higher fields of learning, but their parents had failed to make provision sufficiently in advance.

Of course not every boy and girl is going to college and not every parent can afford to send his children to college.

If you are one who plans to give your child the advantages of a college education, the question is simply this.

When your child is ready for College, will you be ready, too?

Our Child's Educational Fund affords you the simplest, the most complete, and the most positive means of providing the necessary funds for your child's education.

Experienced Trust Service Guards Your Survivors from Undue Risks

UNDER certain conditions, there is a prevailing urge for anyone who has money to make investments of a highly speculative type. And often it is the heir to an estate who is the quickest to risk estate funds this way. It is always dangerous--and often downright disastrous. Better give your heirs the guiding counsel of an experienced and successful financial organization by appointing this Company as your Executor and Trustee.

"Eyes" for blind flying!

Three new G-E contributions to the conquest of the air

LINDBERGH, flying blind much of the way, hit Ireland "on the nose" in his New York to Paris flight. Now, as an aid to air navigation comes the magneto compass, a product of General Electric research, which gives pilots a navigating instrument of extraordinary accuracy and sensitiveness. Tests have proved that the average pilot can depend upon this instrument to guide him to predetermined points though hundreds of miles away.

Meanwhile, two other General Electric contributions to aviation, have been developed—the electric gasoline gauge and the radio echo altimeter. The ordinary altimeter shows merely height above sea level. But the radio echo altimeter warns the pilot of his actual distance above ground or water by flashing green, yellow, and red lights on the instrument board—thus adding another important new safety factor to the traffic of the air.

By such research, General Electric maintains its leadership in every department of the electrical industry. The list of General Electric products runs into many thousands. On all of them, the G-E monogram is your assurance of electrical correctness and dependability.

Contemporary Topics of Interest to Graduates of Brown

The Coming of President Barbour

BROWN University begins a new era with the assumption of the presidency by Clarence Augustus Barbour of the class of 1888. For nearly a full generation we have been accustomed to think and speak of President Faunce. His name has been inseparable from that of the college. Now he is "ex-President" Faunce, living a comparatively retired life at his new home on Lloyd Avenue, while Dr. Barbour occupies the presidential office and "begins his mild reign," as the old hymn says.

Just how "mild" it is destined to be is, as a matter of fact, one of those interesting things that remains to be seen. We cannot forbear quoting a description of the new president from a private letter written by one of his long-time friends to another. According to this letter, which was mailed in mid-summer, the new executive was stirred with the vision of his new task and its opportunities, and had "fire in his eye." We believe that the description is dependable. It harmonizes with what we know of him of old, and we are looking forward with alert anticipation to the new epoch now opening.

Strengthening the University

OF course the university is not going to be made over very radically all at once by any one man or set of men. It is a plant of long growth which antedates us all and will also post-date us. But a vigorous new president will shape it in some degree and leave his mark upon it. We are sure that in the eight or nine years to which Dr. Barbour can look forward before he reaches the collegiate age of retirement he will have impressed his academic and administrative ideas upon us in a considerable measure. Whether he will attempt any far-reaching changes we do not know. Probably he does not know himself. We imagine that at first, at any rate, he will devote himself to a general policy of strengthening the university wherever this seems practical. That it needs strengthening there can be no doubt, as every such institution does, now and at all times.

Quality Rather Than Quantity

WE naturally have our own opinions as to the species of strengthening there ought to be at Brown. As we have recently said, we are convinced of the necessity of emphasizing quality first of all. Quantity can take care of itself. The more stress we lay on quality, the less we shall have to worry about quantity. If, on the other hand, we neglect quality, what shall quantity profit us?

Those best acquainted with Brown's problems by near-at-hand residence and long time association will know most thoroughly what we mean. It is an important if not a critical moment in the university's affairs. What we need in the presidential office is inspiration for a newer and finer day, a leadership to which every lukewarm graduate will loyally respond. This response cannot and ought not to be taken for granted. It must be deserved. We say this with all friendship for President Barbour and a hearty desire to see him succeed. The alumni must meet him half way, but he also must meet them half way; and we are confident that he will do so.

As he inspects the college at close range, as he comes in intimate contact with the alumni body, he will be conscious of currents and countercurrents that only such close inspection and intimate contact can make one cognizant of. Academe is not an idyllic confine where accord and affection spontaneously spring; we have even heard it compared, by one who had every reason to know, with the slopes of Vesuvius. By all of which we simply mean that any college administration which desires a genuine and deep-seated alumni devotion rather than the perfunctory loyalty which is commonplace and unsatisfying must itself stimulate that higher kind. We welcome President Barbour and pledge our co-operation in every effort he makes for the upbuilding and buttressing of Brown through the rousing of such an alumni support.

Vice President Mead

WE take this renewed opportunity to express our appreciation of the valiant service rendered to Brown by Vice President Albert D. Mead. During the last four years he has been devotedly "on the job," and has made, upon everyone familiar with the facts, a solid impression of executive capacity and academic soundness. He has done much to systematize and strengthen the university's instruction and the results stand today in eloquent testimony to his ability and leadership. President Barbour is fortunate in having a vice president of this calibre at his side, and we foresee happy consequences of their collaboration.

* * *

We Call on the President

EARLY in September we made our first call on President Barbour. We found him in the north-east corner room on the first floor of the Administration Building, which was formerly the headquarters of

The new executive looked singularly fit for his new task. He was the picture of health and gave us the impression of poise, dignity and competence. Beyond this there was evident a basic sincerity and earnestness, along with a saving grace of humor.

Dr. Barbour has taken up his new work desirous of doing the best he can. He did not seek the place; it came to him by the unanimous action of the Corporation. He has had an extraordinary experience in life, has touched many young lives with his helpful personality and, we feel sure, is anxious to apply the teachings of his experience to the manifold problem that confronts him at Brown. He seems to us a man who does not under-estimate the difficulties of his new position, but who nevertheless is not afraid of them. He has had difficulties to meet and solve in his long years as a minister and a seminary executive, and he has not shrunk from them.

President Barbour has no personal motive to serve, no faction to espouse, no axe to grind. He proposes to be the best president of Brown he knows how to be, and we predict that his administration will be a substantial success.

He is fortunate in having a remarkable quartet of university administrators to assist him. We have already spoken of Vice President Mead. There are also Comptroller Edwin A. Burlingame, Dean Samuel T. Arnold and Director of Admissions Kenneth O. Mason. Here we see a working staff in which any university might have confidence. All are devoted to Brown, and all are working smoothly and happily with the new President.

Shall Brown be a University?

WE disagree with Percy Marks in his article in College Humor for October, where he says that in his judgment Brown ought not to strive to be a university but should content itself with being a college. There is good season to suppose, indeed, that some of the New England institutions of the higher learning that are laying stress on their collegiate character will be in trouble in the next few years. That is, in order to secure and retain the best teachers, a college or university must emphasize graduate study. We have one such institution in mind which we are told is already suffering in an academic sense because it prefers to go in the collegiate rather than the university direction. At Brown we have lately developed our Graduate Department into a Graduate School and have raised our standards for graduate study. The requirements of this school are now comparable with those for graduate study at the best New England universities, including Harvard and Yale, and much ahead of those at some other pretentious institutions of university rank and title. We are certain that if these new standards are maintained, we shall attract teachers and students of the first rank, and that if we do not we are in grave danger of academic deterioration.

Before these lines are read the university year will have begun and the Graduate School registration will presumably be 300—a larger number than ever before. The school has now reached a point where it can be, and is, more selective than at any time in its 40-odd years of history.

Plans for President Barbour's Inauguration

IN the presence of one of the most eminent groups of educators College Hill has seen in its one hundred and sixty years as a seat of learning, Dr. Clarence A. Barbour, '88, will be inaugurated as the tenth president of Brown on Friday, Oct. 18.

Some two hundred colleges and universities will be represented, many of them by their presidents. In addition, masters of some of the best known secondary schools in the East, at which Dr. Barbour for many years has been a well-appreciated visitor, will be among the guests.

The exercises will begin with a mass meeting of Brown alumni in Sayles Hall Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, and conclude with the inauguration dinner at the Biltmore Hotel Friday evening, Oct. 18. The following day Brown and Yale will meet in football at New Haven, and the committee hopes that many alumni will plan to come back to the campus and then go to New Haven for the contest.

The list of speakers testifies to Brown's importance in the college world. It will include Presidents A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, James B. Angell of Yale, Livingston Farrant of Cornell and Frank Parker Day of Union College, Dr. Alfred E. Stearns of Andover, Col. Noble Brandon Judah, '04, former Ambassador to Cuba, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., '97.

As none of the halls available to the committee is large enough to accommodate alumni, alumnae, delegates, guests and friends of Brown, a division of invitations has been absolutely necessary. The committee on the inauguration, Theodore Francis Green, '87, chairman, and Clinton C. White, '00, and Paul C. DeWolf, '05, of the Corporation, Professors Albert K. Potter, '86, and James P. Adams of the Faculty, has made plans so that there will be opportunity for every one of the Brown family and all of the guests to whom Brown will be host to participate in the program.

The alumni will gather at a meeting "strictly informal and of the family" in Sayles Hall, Wednesday evening, Oct. 16, at 8:15, to meet Dr. Barbour. Everett Colby, '97, will preside; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Dr. Barbour will speak briefly. There will be incidental music of a special nature, Brown songs and, before the evening is over, refreshments. It will be, according to the committee, a real Brown family meeting, and the committee and the officers of the Associated Alumni join in the hope that the attendance will fill Sayles Hall, which has been redecorated, and which will be furnished in an inviting, homelike way for the alumni meeting. In the receiving line with Dr. Barbour will be Mr. Colby and Victor A. Schwartz, '07, president of the Associated Alumni.

The formal reception in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Barbour will take place in Sayles Hall Thursday evening, Oct. 17, from 8:30 to 11 o'clock. Invited guests will include delegates from visiting colleges and secondary schools, members of the Corporation and faculty and others.

The alumnae will have their opportunity to meet Dr. and Mrs. Barbour at a tea to be given in Alumnae Hall Friday afternoon, Oct. 18, from 4:30 to 6 o'clock. Delegates, members of the Corporation and others will also attend this affair.

The undergraduates, both at Brown and at Pembroke College, will play their part on the same day. At 9 o'clock Friday morning the Brown undergraduate body will assemble at the First Baptist Meeting House to hear President Day of Union College. At 10:30 a program in recognition of the honors students at Pembroke College will be given in Alumnae Hall with President Ellen Fitz Pendleton of Wellesley College, an honorary graduate in 1911, making the address.

The inaugural procession, led by Col. Henry B. Rose, '81, as Chief Marshal, will form at the back of University Hall Friday at 1 o'clock. It will proceed down College Hill to the First Baptist Meeting House, where the inaugural exercises will begin at 2 o'clock. There will be four divisions, headed by the Chief Marshal, his aides and a band.

In the first division will be the high sheriff of Providence County, in accord with Brown tradition, the mace bearer, Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr., and aides, Dr. Barbour, Chancellor Chace, Theodore Francis Green, the speakers of the day, Presidents Lowell and Farrand, Bishop Perry and Rev. Dr. Arthur W.

Cleaves, the Board of Fellows and Board of Trustees, the Deans of the University, the Faculty and other officers.

The second division will be made up of the visiting delegates, who will march in the order of the founding of their respective institutions. They will wear full academic regalia. The color guard will head the third division, in which will be Governor Norman S. Case, '08, and his staff, United States Senators and Congressmen from Rhode Island, Lieutenant Governor James G. Connolly, '09, Speaker Roy Rawlings of the Rhode Island House, United States Judge Ira Lloyd Letts, '13, the judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts of Rhode Island, and Mayor James E. Dunne of Providence.

The fourth division will include guests, former officers of instruction at Brown, ministers of Providence, members of the Advisory Council of Pembroke College, the Advisory Board of the Associated Alumni, visiting committees of the University, representatives of undergraduate classes and others.

Mr. Green will act as presiding officer at the First Baptist Meeting House and will introduce President Lowell of Harvard, President Farrand of Cornell, Chancellor Chace, who will speak for the Corporation, and Dr. Barbour, who will deliver his inaugural address. Rev. Dr. Cleaves will make the invocation and Bishop Perry of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island will give the benediction. John B. Archer, director of the Providence Community Chorus, will have charge of the music.

At the inaugural dinner Colonel Judah will preside, and on the program will be President Angell of Yale, Dr. Stearns, head master of Andover, Professor Theodore Collier, of the department of history, who will speak for the Corporation, Governor Case and Dr. Barbour. The guests will be the visiting delegates, members of the Brown Corporation and of the Brown Faculty with the rank of professor or associate professor, and others.

Mr. Green and his committee, with the aid of the Rhode Island Society for the Collegiate Education of Women, are making plans for the complete entertainment of Brown's guests. Mrs. Elisha B. Howard of the society is co-operating to provide a list of hosts and hostesses who will open their houses during the inaugural exercises and show the visitors the fine and admirable hospitality which has always been one of Providence's assets.

we can and correct the horrible shortcomings of 1929.

And, which has much in its favor, let the Alumni, who support such things, get a look at the new Association President, Victor A. Schwartz, class of 1907.

Dear Editor:

In the July issue you hit the nail squarely on the head when you say:

(1) The exercises June 17 were too long.

(2) The introductory remarks were far too long.

(3) Very many could not hear. You might also have added that many were hungry. Flowers are attractive but at least we ought to receive 50c of food for a $1.50 ticket. I have been told that the expenses of band, printing, etc., etc., came out of the lunch tickets. I am able to attend only once in five years, but as I am not on an 18-day diet, I wish a cafeteria could be opened or old Jumbo called back so the inner man would suffer less.

Success to you,

Frank E. Lakey, '94

West Stoughton, Mass.

Aug. 13, 1929.

Editor Brown Alumni Monthly:

Your comments on Commencement afternoon and speeches were read with hearty approval.

"It seems to me, however, you did not mention a great first error. The long waste of time at the sit-down lunch was an awfully tiresome start. We go to Commencement to see our friends and hear selected speakers: not to eat. We would have been much happier to help ourselves from a side table and roam amongst many friends, rather than sit down with a few friends. Much time was wasted, and the tables with aristocratic service were a nuisance by lessening contact with many old friends and later getting nearer the speakers. I had an excellent seat, by good luck, and heard all the speeches, but others were not so fortunate.

Harvard, unless weather prevents,

Commencement Afternoon Change Is Called For

THE demand for a reform of the Commencement afternoon program is widespread and insistent. The climactic fizzle of last June has brought the matter to a head and we believe that the Corporation and Administration cannot ignore the matter any longer. Year after year the exercises have been unsatisfactory, but this year they were so utterly so as to make a prompt change imperative.

If the University authorities do not wish to transfer the responsibility for the afternoon program entirely to the Associated Alumni, at least the latter should be represented upon the committee having the program in charge. To fail to heed the protests against a repetition of the 1929 performance is unthinkable. We believe that the Alumni Association would gladly assume the entire responsibility, as the occasion is the principal alumni function of the academic year. Short of this, the association should certainly be called into counsel and have a fair share in shaping the exercises.

A petition is now in preparation requesting the university authorities to alter the conditions under which the afternoon program is arranged and providing for the avoidance of past errors. We heartily endorse this petition in the name of the alumni of Brown.

Following are letters recently received regarding the matter. The first comes from Wiley H. Marble, president of the Associated Alumni last year:

Editor Brown Alumni Monthly:

The editorial regarding Commencement of Brown in the July issue cannot but help impress many of our alumni, especially those who return to Brown regularly, that "something is wrong with the picture." The Alumni should share in the Commencement afternoon program but not alone as "at $1.50 per head."

The 1929 program would have been, elsewhere, a near-burlesque. It was horribly stage-managed. We witnessed over a thousand perspiring alumni crowding through one entrance just because someone could not make better provision for a large attendance. When allowed in, they heard about one-third of the program, and like the editor, many, all too many, "disloyally disappeared."

It would seem that a purely faculty committee, however successful in the classroom, needs further enlightenment in the technique of an alumni gathering. It might well be, as an experiment only, that the 1930 Commencement afternoon program be, as at Cambridge, for instance, entrusted to the Alumni Association and give them, for the first time in the history of Brown, a real "place in the sun."

The Alumni Association first attempted the gymnasium idea and found it good. Now that it has been demonstrated that a large crowd can be persuaded to go to the Elmgrove Avenue edifice, let's improve where has all her morning exercises in a large open-air theatre with amplifiers on the stage. A stand-up lunch, much better, by the way, than our sit-down lunch, is taken from tables, and we roam amongst many old friends, rather than simply our own class. After lunch we return to the same open-air amphitheatre for speeches. Everyone is well pleased, so far as known.

Very truly yours,

C. H. Hare, '85

Boston, Aug. 16, 1929.

Football Prospects as the Season Opens

AT the present writing the outlook for a successful football year at Brown is not as bright as enthusiastic alumni could wish. Graduation, withdrawals from college and academic discipline have made serious inroads into the ranks of the 1929 varsity squad.

However, coaches must go on with their work as best they can, making the best of such material as voluntarily offers and striving to discover new material. McLaughry and his assistants were on hand to greet the first detachment of candidates at Providence on September 9, and were rewarded with a fair round-up of aspirants.

J. W. Nutter, writing in The Evening Bulletin shortly before the opening of the practice season, said: "Five members of last season's varsity are ineligible or out of college, including Dick Marsan, quarterback; Sam Flora, halfback; Paul Hilbert, halfback; Lemoine Heuser, center, and John Gillies, tackle; while seven former letter men were members of the 1929 graduating class, as follows: A. C. and Harry Cornsweet, Louis Farber, E. A. Kevorkian, Hyman Heller, Win Dodge and Jim Stewart. Eleven other men who were included on the preliminary list from which the squad members would be selected at the close of the preliminary camp are ineligible or out of college.

"Coach McLaughry faces his greatest problem in the replacing of the backfield, for four of his first eight men in the ball carrying assignments have gone the way by graduation or ineligibility. Only "Link" Fogarty and C. H. Edwards remain from the first quartet, and F. D.

Gurll and Lee Marshall from the second four. . . .

"The list of 48 men invited to return includes 12 varsity letter men from the 1928 team, 20 men from the 1927 or 1928 squads, or both, and 16 yearlings. Six of the men are Seniors, 26 are Juniors and 16 are members of the Sophomore class."

The men invited to return for the preliminary drill are: J. E. Munroe, North Attleboro, Mass.; C. H. Edwards, Chicago, Ill.; Nelson Munson, Springfield, Mass.; Joe Schein, Newark, N. J.; Vahe Johnson, Providence; W. Lincoln Fogarty, Flushing, N. Y.; F. D. Gurll, New Bedford, Mass.; Paul Babcock, East Milton, Mass.; E. G. Hapgood, Newton, Mass.; Lee Marshall, New York City; R. V. Carton, Asbury Park, N. J.; T. G. Anderson, Whitneyville, Conn.; R. H. Clarke, Providence; E. K. Allen, West Newton, Mass.; C. B. Brown, Flushing, N. Y.; J. Chrust, Union City, N. J.; J. L. Cooke, Jr., Red Bank, N. J.; D. D. Demarest, White Plains, N. Y.; D. M. Edes, Newport, R. I.; B. Hasenfratz, Brooklyn, N. Y.; K. A. Henn, Cleveland, O.; J. L. Horton, Providence; C. H. Kretschmann, Wollaston, Mass.; R. H. Morey, Canandaigua, N. Y.; W. E. S. Moulton, Boston, Mass.; R. D. Richardson, Providence; A. J. Rotelli, Conimicut, R. I.; A. R. Sanborn, Providence; O. F. Schneider, Newark, N. J.; W. A. Wentworth, Watertown, Mass.; J. M. McDonough, Manchester, N. H.; D. F. Coffin, Detroit, Mich.; P. A. M. Snyder, Franklin, Pa.; L. H. Batastini, Hartford, Conn.; R. F. Canning, North Providence, R. I.; J. R.

Gaulkins, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. W. Hardt, Attleboro, Mass.; H. R. Harris, Mansfield, Mass.; R. Hemingway, Bound Brook, N. J.; J. E. Kreps, Cleveland, O.; P. F. Mackesy, Lynn, Mass.; J. G. Sawyer, New Rochelle, N. Y.; G. A. Tietz, Newport, R. I.; L. G. Thompson, Trenton, N. J.; C. C. Tillinghast, New York City; J. C. White, Chicago, Ill.; A. C. Dall'Ava, Garfield, N. J., and E. Sutcliffe, Newton, Mass.

McLaughry is assisted by A. Barr Snively of Princeton, line coach; Dave Mishel, assistant with the backfield; E. Thurston Towle, end coach; E. J. Staff, freshman coach; Dr. W. H. Snell, second team coach, and scout; and Jack McKinnon, trainer. Snively is the only member of the squad who has not been with the staff before, his appointment to succeed Douglas Lawson having been made last winter. All the other coaches are Brown men.

Football Practice Progresses

Football practice began at Aldrich Field on Monday, Sept. 9. Coach McLaughry found 39 candidates ready for the season's work. Present: Gurll, Marshall, Edec, Babcock, Kretschmann, Rotelli, Sutcliffe, Hemingway, Harris, Battestini (all backs) and Allen, Canning, Caulkins, Hardt, Hazenfratz, Mackesey, Teitz, Tillinghast, Demorjian, Mahood, Walsh, Jack and Ken White, Fernandez, Erinakes, Munroe, Johnson, Schein, Schneider, Horton, Coffin, Demarest, Hapgood, Brown, Henn, Richardson, Wentworth, Snyder and Sawyer. The day was rainy and the work was confined to a brief grass drill and setting up exercises.

On Sept. 10, the second day of practice, Nels Munson, first-string lineman last year, and Bob Carton, end, made their appearance. It was reported that "Bud" Edwards would be delayed at his Chicago home several days by an eye infection. "Link" Fogarty was still absent by reason of sickness in his family. The problem at this time was to develop backs. Two "Iron Men," Lawrence and Smith, and Hal Neubauer, watched the practice.

Sept. 11 saw Edwards on the field in spite of his infected eye. Additions to the squad included also Jack Farrebee and Jim White of last year's Freshman team. Five "Iron Men" were on the field: Smith, Lawrence, Hodge, Mishel and Towle, the latter two being regular members of the coaching staff.

Sept. 12 saw Cooke and Moulton in the field for the first time this season. Four elevens were organized and put through their signal paces. Bud Edwards showed remarkable early-season punting form, being the best of four kickers who were tried out.

Sept. 13 was marked by the arrival of Lou Demmler of Pittsburgh, substitute back last season, and Bob Morey of Canandaigua, N. Y., substitute end. The practice was held in spite of a drizzling rain.

Chicago

The Brown University Club of Chicago is pleased to report that its annual Fall Luncheon for entering students and undergraduates of Chicago and vicinity was held with complete success Tuesday, Sept. 10, in the College Room of Maillard's Restaurant, Michigan Boulevard.

Fifty Brown undergraduates, alumni, and members of the Class of 1933 were present, more by a large number than had ever attended a previous affair of its kind here. Of this number seventeen were men who were to leave the week following to enter the University, and ten others were undergraduates present at the request of the Club to aid in the informal get-together held before luncheon was served.

Wallace R. Lane, '99, a member of the Corporation, served as Toastmaster, and introduced Elmer T. Stevens, '04, who in turn introduced one by one the 1933 men. The club was particularly fortunate in having present also Professor William H. Kenerson, '96, head of the Division of Engineering, and one of the most popular Faculty members on the Hill. Mr. Lane introduced Professor Kenerson and also David L. Jones, '24, President of the Chicago Brown Club. Both men spoke briefly.

The affair was noteworthy in several respects. First of all, it served the purpose of allowing the entering students to meet each other and become acquainted even before the actual opening of college. Secondly, it revealed to both the Chicago alumni and the undergraduates that the University is gaining real and tangible impetus in the Middle West.

Of Chicago's contingent to the entering class this fall, all except six (out of twenty-two) prepared for Brown at leading preparatory schools. A group of nine enters the University from Lake Forest Academy; one is from Peddie; an eleventh is a graduate of Lawrenceville; another is from Westminster School of Connecticut; one is from Moses Brown School; still another is from VICTOR A. SCHWARTZ, '07, new president of the Associated Alumni, called the executive committee together for its first meeting of the present academic year, Tuesday, Sept. 24. The committee, in addition to President Schwartz, is composed of James M. Pendleton, '85, Clifford S. Anderson, '00, James S. Allen, '98, E. K. Aldich, Jr., '02, Clinton C. White, '00, Homer N. Sweet, '07, and Henry S. Chafee, '09. Messrs. White, Sweet and Chafee are the new members. All have been prominent for some time in various kinds of alumni work.

President Schwartz begins his two-year term with many of the Brown clubs up and doing and with full opportunity for a constructive alumni program. As we write this copy, the Associated Alumni is co-operating with the special inauguration committee to bring back to the campus a large number of alumni for President Barbour's inauguration on Oct. 18, the day before the Brown-Yale game. The alumni gathering in honor of Dr. Barbour, set for Wednesday, Oct. 16, in Sayles Hall, promises to be a hearty homecoming.

Since the last issue of the Alumni Monthly, the Brown Clubs in Worcester and Boston have had meetings. Worcester alumni turned out well. Wiley H. Marble, '12, former president of the Associated Alumni, reported, to greet Dr. Barbour, who was on a visit to Worcester. The Boston alumni have held a golf tournament. The New Jersey alumni had their plans made for a get-together before the Brown-Princeton game at Princeton. And in this column we tell of activities of the Chicago and New York clubs. The outlook for the year is encouraging; it will become a reality if all of the Brown clubs will begin now to take serious thought of definite programs to be undertaken during the next eight months.

New York

A full schedule for the balance of this year has been planned by a committee of the Brown University Club in New York appointed by President Hugh W. MacNair, '17. The committee, F. S. Collins, '21, T. C. Watson, '19, and Watson Wyckoff, '28, has made these arrangements:

Oct. 3—Wall Street evening. An informal dinner at the Hotel Wentworth, 59 West 46th Street, with W. R. Burgess, '12, of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, R. R. Hunter, '98, of the Equitable Trust Company and others in the financial district to tell the alumni something of banking, investment, speculation and whatnot.

Oct. 12—Brown-Princeton game. Buses arranged and tickets reserved for alumni, wives and friends.

Oct. 17—Bridge teams compete.

Oct. 19—Brown-Yale game. Arrangements similar to the ones for the Brown-Princeton contest.

Oct. 29—Political evening, with a dinner and Arthur F. Driscoll, '06, and some prominent politicians primed to talk about politics.

Nov. 14—Bridge teams compete.

Dec. 5—Insurance evening, with dinner and a chance to learn about insurance.

Dec. 12—Bridge again.

To all of which we can heartily add: "When in New York, put up at the Brown Club, Hotel Went-the local University High School of the University of Chicago. Evanston High and other well-known secondary schools are also represented in this group which attracted comment at the luncheon as being the most likely-looking group ever sent from Chicago.

Reflecting considerable credit on the new principles governing entrance inaugurated by the Committee on Admissions, Mr. Stevens in his talk described the personal interview method followed by him as the Alumni Counsellor for this district. Following this, each 1933 man was asked to rise when his name was called, was introduced to his classmates, and was asked to tell the name of his preparatory school.

In Professor Kenerson the Freshman guests of the Chicago Brown Club were enabled to come face to face with one of the best possible representatives of the Faculty. Professor Kenerson described Dean Mason to the audience and advised the entering students to make certain to have personal contact with the Dean of Freshmen, who was pointed out for the fine fellow he is. Other points in regard to the University were discussed by the speaker, whose address was greeted with hearty applause.

Following the luncheon the guests mixed with the undergraduates and arrangements were started for a special Brown car on the Wolverine Limited eastbound. Copies of the University football schedule for 1929 and of Brunotes were distributed to all present. The committee in charge of arrangements for the luncheon was composed of John Monk, '24, chairman; Frank Farnham, '16, Earle V. Johnson, '24, Joseph L. Strauss, Jr., '28, and D. D. Davisson, '29.

A group of the younger alumni is already making plans to travel East to witness one or two of the major contests on the University eleven's fine schedule. Larry Norton and his roadster will undoubtedly be Princeton-bound in plenty of time to land him in Palmer Stadium for the Brown-Princeton contest.

The Chicago Club holds its weekly luncheon each Tuesday in the City Club, 318 Plymouth Court, and any and all alumni passing through Chicago are invited to drop in without notice—J. L. S., Jr.

Southern California

One of the most enjoyable meetings ever held by the Brown Club of Southern California was that of July 26, at the home of Herve W. Georgi, '95, at 916 South Wilson Avenue, Alhambra. The members were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Georgi at an evening smoker in their spacious home. The gathering was primarily in honor of Dr. John Harrington Cox, '97, Professor of English Philology in the University of West Virginia, and Mrs. Cox, and Rev. Dr. Clarence M. Gallup, '96, of Providence, and Mrs. Gallup.

Dr. Cox discussed the origin and history of various forms of folklore familiar in different sections of the United States, illustrating his talk by reading several examples of early plantation stories, and so-called "nursery rhymes," and singing some of the more provincial folk songs of early English origin which are still current in some sections of this country. In collaboration with Mrs. Cox he has recently published a volume dealing principally with the folklore of the south, particularly of the mountain regions of West Virginia where early English examples remain surprisingly unchanged. Dr. and Mrs. Cox have in contemplation two additional volumes which they hope to have ready for publication in the near future and which are designed to cover the entire field, at least insofar as Southern States are involved.

Dr. Gallup brought to the members an illuminating and interesting glimpse of the University as it is today, relating in happily chosen detail many of the more significant changes that have taken place in faculty, undergraduate personnel, and physical equipment. At the conclusion of his talk his hearers all felt that they had again breathed the atmosphere of College Hill, with its happy memories and hopes for the future.

At the conclusion of the program the following were elected officers of the Club for the ensuing year: President, Cornelius W. Pendleton, '81; vice president Theron Clark, '95; secretary-treasurer, Lawrence L. Larrabee, '09; assistant secretary-treasurer, Alfred J. Olsen, Jr., '08.

After the election of officers and the serving of refreshments, the members sang many of the old Brown songs to a piano accompaniment by Arthur A. Macurda, '95. Those present at the meeting were: Charles W. Arthur, '18, Alex Buchman, '28, Dr. C. M. Case, '08, Theron Clark, '95, Mrs. Theron Clark, (Annie Cocks Clark, '07, Pembroke), John Harrington Cox, '97, Nathaniel W. Dexter, '95, Rev. Anthony H. Dexter, '02, Gay N. Freeman, '03, Herve W. Georgi, '95, Louis G. Guernsey, '01, Rev. Dr. Clarence M. Gallup, '96, John Knox, '87, Lawrence L. Larrabee, '09, Henry N. Loneragan, '20, Robinson C. Locke, '24n, Arthur A. Macurda, '95, R. Grant Mann, '28, Alfred J. Olsen, Jr., '08, Houghton Metcalf, '04, W. W. Martin, '04, Fred W. Mears, '95, Cornelius W. Pendleton, '81, Rev. A. O. Pritchard, '00, William G. Randall, '97, Conrad F. Seabury, '08, Amasa R. T. Truex, '95, John C. Hamilton, '28.

Odds and Ends of University Interest

Plans for Loyalty Fund

Dennis F. O'Brien, '98, was host to the Brown Alumni Loyalty Fund trustees at a meeting at his summer home, Sunnylands, at Watch Hill, R. I., Sept. 6. Present were Henry G. Clark, '07, chairman of the trustees, Victor A. Schwartz, '07, president of the Associated Alumni and a trustee ex-officio, and A. H. Gurney, Alumni Secretary. The hard rainstorm prevented a larger attendance, as all of the trustees had to come from a distance. Following lunch, with Mrs. O'Brien as hostess, there was serious discussion of ways and methods of bringing the fund to the attention of all Brown men and building it up to the largest possible annual amount. It was voted to enlist the aid of President Barbour in advertising the fund and to undertake a campaign with subscriptions on a yearly basis, as the custom is at Yale, Dartmouth, Princeton, Amherst and other universities and colleges which have keen and wholehearted support of alumni in their fund activities.

Dr. Faunce Decorated

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, on recommendation of Premier Mussolini, has conferred the order of Commendatore of the Crown of Italy upon Dr. Faunce. "The honor was accorded the ex-president of Brown," the Providence Journal said, "for his thirty years of distinguished service as an educator and for the great interest he has shown in establishing an Italian Department at Brown." Col. H. Anthony Dyer, '94, is also a Commendatore.

The Class of 1829

The Class of 1829, which graduated a hundred years ago this September, consisted of 19 members, as follows:

Bird studied law and founded the Bird School at South Boston. Bolles was a teacher and lawyer, Secretary of State of Massachusetts and editor of the Boston Journal, served in the Civil War and rose to the rank of brevet brigadier general. Benoni Carpenter was a physician, served in the war and became a State Senator of Rhode Island. W. B. Carpenter was a medical student but died at the age of 20. Coney was a lawyer and judge of probate in Maine, state land agent, state treasurer, mayor of Augusta, and governor of Maine, 1863-1866. Cook was an Episcopal clergyman. Crouch was born and died at Charleston, S. C., from which city so many early Brown men came; he was a teacher and real estate broker. Doggett was a Unitarian minister and a teacher. Dorrance was a cotton manufacturer and treasurer of the Crompton Manufacturing Company. Elisha Dyer was a cotton manufacturer, bank president, railroad and steamboat company official, adjutant general and governor of Rhode Island, captain in the war, and a leading citizen of the city and state. Fiske was a Congregational minister. Gordon was a physician. Hill was a Baptist minister. Holmes was a lawyer. Miles was a Unitarian minister, Sweet was also a Unitarian minister and later a teacher and merchant. We know nothing of Webb except that he came from Northfield, Mass. Wilmarth became a teacher at Thompson, Conn. Wilson was another South Carolinian, living at Society Hill.

It is particularly interesting to note that the class contained two governors, and that of its seven ministers, four were Unitarians, one a Baptist, one a Congregationalist and one an Episcopalian.

Brunonians Far and Near

Faculty

Dean Otis E. Randall and Mrs. Randall, who are spending the year in Europe, had not yet decided, when they were last heard from, as to where they would live during the winter. Their address is in care of Brown, Shipley & Co., 123 Pall Mall, London, S. W. Dean Randall and Mrs. Randall have covered most of Europe since they sailed from Boston in June.

Professor W. H. Kenerson, chairman of the Division of Engineering, has been nominated as a representative of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers on the American Engineering Council. The nomination is equivalent to election. The council has in charge the relations between the leading engineering groups in the United States and the Federal Government and advises in public matters where engineering is involved.

Professor Philip H. Mitchell of the Biology Department is on sabbatic leave, most of which he will spend in Europe. He and Mrs. Mitchell sailed during the summer, together with their daughters, Misses Edith and Margery Mitchell, who are in school in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Professor Leonard Carmichael of the Department of Psychology represented Brown at the ninth international congress of psychology at Yale University last month and read a paper on "The Experimental Study of the Development of Behavior in Vertebrates." This study was done in large part in the Brown psychology laboratory.

Professor J. Barrett Botsford of the Department of History is a member of the advisory board of the Edgar Allan Poe Society which was formed to advance knowledge about and appreciation of Poe's literary works.

Professor Frederic P. Gorham of the Biology Department, Professor Charles A. Kraus of the Department of Chemistry and Dr. Herman C. Pitts of Providence are members of a committee now at work "to find out some of the fundamental principles that regulate and control the growth of cancer." The experimental work is being carried on in a building near the Arnold Biological Laboratory.

Professor Dean S. Fansler of the English Department spoke on "The Development of English in the Philippines" before the Linguistic Institute at Yale University in August. Professor Fansler taught in the University of the Philippines before he came to Brown.

William W. Douglas, former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island and Trustee of Brown since 1902, died in Providence on July 11, 1929. He was born in Providence Nov. 26, 1841, the son of Rev. William and Sarah (Sawyer)

Douglas. His father was a graduate in the class of 1839, and his three brothers, Francis W. Douglas, Dr. Charles H. Douglas and Samuel T. Douglas, were Brown men. Judge Douglas came to Brown from the Providence High School; and within a month from the date of his graduation enlisted with the Fifth Rhode Island Heavy Artillery. Later he received a commission as Second Lieutenant and in January, 1862, he sailed to join General Burnside in the Hatteras expedition. During the next two years he saw considerable service, and won promotion to the rank of First Lieutenant. On his return to civil life in 1865 he commenced the study of law in the office of Samuel Currey in Providence and in 1866 took his law degree at the Albany Law School. He was admitted to the New York bar and then to the Rhode Island bar. He became active in politics, held various State and Federal offices and was a strong campaigner in the fight that sent his old chief, General Burnside, to the United States Senate. In August, 1891, he became an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Rhode Island, and Chief Justice in February, 1905. He retired in 1908. Judge Douglas was for many years prominent in the G. A. R. and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States. He was likewise identified with the First Baptist Church, Baptist Charitable Society and the Board of Managers of the Rhode Island Baptist State Convention. He served as director of several public utilities companies, the Union Trust Company of Providence, and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Hope Club, Providence Art Club, Squantum Association, Agawam Hunt Club and other organizations. Brown conferred an honorary LL. D. upon him in 1902. Judge Douglas was married June 30, 1884, to Anna Jean Bennett, who survives him. "He maintained a keen interest in life," said the Providence Journal editorially, "was devoted to the art of music, retained much of his early interest in the law, and to the end of his long career kept a certain delightful youthfulness of gait and appearance . . . His pleasant presence among us will long be missed."

Rev. Dr. John B. G. Pidge celebrated the 60th anniversary of his ordination as a Baptist minister in the First Baptist Church, Lawrence, Mass., on Sept. 6. Dr. Pidge has been preaching at the Fourth Baptist Church, Philadelphia, since 1879.

Dr. Frederick Arnold Vinton, member of the class for three years, died at his home in Providence on Aug. 3, 1929. He was born in Providence Feb. 16, 1842, the son of Samuel and Kezia (Arnold) Vinton. He came to Brown from the Classical High School and left college to enter the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York. He was forced to give up, however, before completing his course. After six years at home he entered the University of Vermont Medical School, from which he received his M. D. in 1875. He commenced practice in Providence and continued active until 1909. He was married May 27, 1878, to Miss Mary Ella Armstrong of Providence, and his daughter, Miss Hope Vinton, is his only survivor. Dr. Vinton was a fluent linguist, a student of music and an authority on history of the Providence stage during the years preceding and following the Civil War. He was a member of the Rhode Island Medical Society, the American Medical Association and Chi Psi. "He was one of the Old Guard of Rhode Island medical men," a friend has said of him "and one of the most charitable and generous physicians ever to practice in the state."

William T. Richmond's present address is Box 504, Sawtelle, Cal.

Rev. Dr. William Ashmore, one of Brown's pioneers in the mission field in Asia, is living at 2227 Broadway, Santa Ana, Cal.

A tablet to the memory of Susan Wilkinson Munro, wife of Professor Emeritus Wilfred H. Munro, was unveiled at the annual commencement exercises at De Veaux School, Niagara Falls, N. Y., in June. Professor Munro was the fourth president of De Veaux when the school was a college. Judge Carl E. Tucker, '90, made the address at the unveiling of the tablet and also was host to Professor Munro during the latter's stay in Niagara Falls. Another tablet, in honor of William Munro and his lineal descendants, was dedicated in July. It is placed on the wall of St. Michael's Church, Bristol, R. I. William Munro was a member of the first vestry of the parish, chosen at the Easter meeting in 1724, and five of his descendants, including Professor Munro, have served as vestrymen of St. Michael's.

The Boston Transcript of July 27, 1929, had an illustrated article on the work Rev. Dr. O. P. Gifford is doing in Pasadena, Cal. Dr. Gifford's ministry, we are told, "has covered the entire Pacific Coast." After describing his day's doings and telling of his numerous engagements in public address, the writer concluded: "It never occurs to his hearers to ask what Dr. Gifford's denominational affiliations are, or rather were, for at present he belongs to all the churches, and the people of Pasadena, and for that matter all Southern California, are hoping that he may be spared for many years." To which hope we heartily add ours.

Col. Webster Knight exhibited his prize cattle during the summer in Illinois, Michigan, New York and other States.

Richard H. Tingley, the crossword puzzle master, was a visitor to Rhode Island during July. An interviewer from the Pawtucket, R. I., Times gleaned the fact that Tingley holds the record for the making of puzzles, having had published more than two thousand of them. He has been at it for the last five years or so, and at the same time has contributed articles on engineering and allied subjects to the newspapers and magazines.

1880

The new address of Professor Emeritus Gardner C. Anthony of Tufts College is 503 Winston Churchill, 5475 Cabanne Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. G. W. Stone recently moved to 1734 North Hudson Avenue, Hollywood, Cal.

1881

The Yale University Press published last month "Pan American Peace Plans," by Charles Evans Hughes, a book of 72 pages dealing with the results achieved at the meeting of the Pan American Congress "and the significance of those results for inter-American relations." Hughes was named in July as a judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice for a period of nine years.

1882

Dr. William H. Tolman of Pawtucket, R. I., is Rhode Island's only representative on the committee of artists and authors of the National Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. "Adequate State control of liquors would seem to be the best remedy for the muddled state of affairs into which prohibition has led the nation," Tolman told a Providence Journal reporter.

1884

The Alumni Office received notice during the summer of the death of Ira Charles Hersey in Jamaica Plain, Mass., on May 23, 1929. Death followed an attack of pneumonia. Hersey was born in Foxboro, Mass., March 17, 1859, the son of David and Eliza Fitz (Mills) Hersey. He prepared at the Foxboro High School and after graduation from Brown studied law. Admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1886, he had since practiced in that state. At the time of his death he had offices with Charles P. Curtis and William C. Endicott in Boston. He was married Nov. 16, 1892, to Kate Lincoln Simmons, and he is survived by four children, Richard M. Hersey of Minneapolis, Katherine F. Hersey of Ohio State University, Robert W. Hersey of New York and Theodore D. Hersey of Methuen, Mass., Hersey was a director of the Dorchester Co-operative Bank and was interested in other organizations.

Edward A. Tuck has changed his address from Sturbridge, Mass., to Memorial Farms Community, Penney Farms, Fla.

Dr. Charles L. White, executive secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society for twelve years, has resigned, the resignation to be effective this month, or as soon thereafter as the best interests of the society permit. During White's tenure of office, The Baptist says, the years have been "marked by many far-reaching developments on mission fields, by basic changes in missionary procedure, by an impressive financial growth both in income and endowments and by the inauguration and strengthening of co-operative relationships."

Capt. E. H. Brownell, U. S. N., has changed his address to 2 Sea View Avenue, Newport, R. I.

Francis H. Brownell is a trustee of the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation which "offers to young productive scholars and artists of the United States opportunities to carry on research and creative work abroad" and, as a result of a recent gift, in Mexico and certain countries of South America.

A bronze tablet to be set up in the passageway on the west side of Swift Hall, University of Chicago, will be a memorial to the late Rev. Dr. Gerald Birney Smith, Professor of Christian Theology at the divinity school of Chicago, 1900-1929, and, as the tablet will appropriately say: "able scholar, progressive thinker, beloved teacher, genial, kindly, tolerant, a lover of his fellow men."

1893

The Senate of Pennsylvania State College has adopted the following minute relative to the death of Professor Irving L. Foster, which occurred June 1, 1929: "The Senate of Pennsylvania State College view today in sorrow, yet with pride, the completed life of Dr. Irving Lyander Foster. Born of an ancestry whose roots run far back in our early colonial history, reared among the best of New England's traditions, he entered upon his work in this institution with all the enthusiasm of four-and-twenty, and after training in both American and German universities. Here for over a third of a century he has done his life's work, giving himself unstintingly and unselfishly to this college of his love. His life has been an open book, known and read by all of us, while his home has been a synonym of hospitality to colleagues and students alike. Many-sided Christian gentleman, large hearted, generous citizen, scholarly, painstaking teacher, successful author and editor, sincere and loyal friend, he has passed; and in his passing we are poorer, every one, but that he lived, the richer, richer far."

1894

Rev. Charles S. Nightingale is pastor of the Charlton Federated Church, Charlton, Mass.

Henry D. Sharpe was elected, in June, to membership in the American Civic Association in recognition of his distinguished service in "the cause of civic improvement in Providence."

William Caswell Huntoon died in Oakland, Me., on Aug. 21, 1929, following a long period of poor health. He was born in Providence, Sept. 13, 1871, the son of William and Rebecca (Barrows) Huntoon. He prepared at the University Grammar School and after graduation entered the employ of Huntoon & Gorham, manufacturers of the Old Coon cigar, famous in the day when five-cent cigars were more plentiful than they are now. He later became president of the concern. He was also identified with the National Collapsible Tube Co., of Providence. He belonged to the Economics Club, Providence Art Club, University Club, Rhode Island Country Club and Psi Upsilon. For some years he was a member of the Republican town committee of East Greenwich, R. I., and the Republican State Central Committee. In 1924 he was a leader of the "good government" movement in East Greenwich. He was married the first time, Nov. 20, 1895, to Miss Mary Lansing Comstock of Providence, who died Feb. 12, 1908, leaving two sons, William C. Huntoon, Jr., and Louis H. C. Huntoon. His second wife, who survives him, together with the sons and a nephew, Harrison B. Huntoon, Jr., '22n, was Grace M. Spaulding of East Greenwich.

Theron Clark is beginning his sixth year as Registrar of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles. He has developed and published an improved system of registering students at large institutions which is receiving much favorable comment.

Fred W. Mears is associate trust counsel for the Title Insurance & Trust Company, one of the big trust organizations on the Pacific Coast. His offices are at 411 Title Insurance Bldg., Los Angeles.

Amasa R. T. Truex is practicing law in Los Angeles in association with the firm of Finlayson, Bennett and Morrow at 210 West Seventh Street.

Arthur A. Macurda's address is 1811 South Harvard Boulevard, Los Angeles. Macurda has been conducting a private school for boys in Los Angeles for a number of years.

Dr. John E. Boodin, Professor of Philosophy at the University of California, Los Angeles, is one of the fellows and founders of the Mudd Hall of Philosophy at the University of Southern California, the cornerstone of which was laid last spring.

Dr. Champlin Burrage spent the summer at Pond Cove, Me., after another expedition to the country of the mound builders in Ohio, which he first visited in 1918. One of the Portland newspapers in July carried a two column article telling of Burrage's work as archaeologist and collector.

1898

Mrs. Grace (Covell) Church Dubois, wife of Judge Henry D. C. Dubois, died at her home in Edgewood, R. I., on July 11, 1929. Judge and Mrs. Dubois observed their 21st wedding anniversary last April.

Miss Elizabeth W. Smart, daughter of Fred A. Smart and Mrs. Smart of Tilton, N. H., has become engaged to Professor Everett Christopher of the English Department, Rhode Island State College. Miss Smart also teaches English at Rhode Island State.

Rev. Walter B. Bullen's wife, Evelyn Olive Bullen, died in Newton Center, Mass., on August 5, 1929. She was born Evelyn Olive Johnson and was graduated from Pembroke College on the same day that our classmate received his degree. The Bullens spent nine years in missionary work in Japan and in recent years had lived in Lee, Me., where Bullen is pastor of the Baptist Church. Mrs. Bullen was a sister of Arthur P. Johnson, '88, and Alfred S. Johnson, '90.

1900

Fred C. W. Parker has begun his second decade as international secretary of Kiwanis International. "He maintains a keen interest in many lines of service work," said an article about him in the Salem, Ore., Statesman, "and is active in the City Club of Chicago and the Chicago Association of Commerce."

Rev. John R. Humphreys is pastor of the Bethany Baptist Church, Wilmington, Del.

1901

We have just read with a great deal of interest E. Tudor Gross's article, "Hunting for Franklin," which appeared in the American Philatelist in October, 1928. Gross's story deals with his examination into the record of the Franklin (Benjamin) portrait on the one-cent postage stamp of 1861 and his conclusion is that Houdon "was the artist whose work was copied to make the one cent 1861." His examination took him some three years and as we read the correspondence that he had and the enjoyment that he got out of it we have no doubt that he feels that the time was well spent.

Harold L. Madison, acting curator of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History, spent three months of the summer and early fall in Europe studying museums and the educational methods of the leading continental institutions. He was likewise the special representative of the American Association of Museums at the annual meeting of the British association held in July at Worthing, England. At this gathering he read a paper on the school museum program which is in use in Cleveland. He also attended the World Conference on Adult Education at Cambridge, England. Mrs. Madison went with him on the trip.

Lt. Col. G. A. (Bird) Taylor is in Cincinnati again, after a month at Camp Knox, Ky., where he taught the young reserve officers some of the fine points of artillery practice. We understand Bird weighs about 185 and would like to be a candidate for tackle on the Brown eleven "in absentia." (Coach McLaughry assures us that too many of last year's regulars and substitutes are "in absentia" now to take on any more candidates of this kind, no matter how ambitious they may be).

Claude E. Stevens reports his address as Baker Block, Port Townsend, Wash., where he is practising law.

Howard H. King's death in Uniontown, Pa., on June 10, 1929, followed a long and serious illness. He was born in Hollidaysburg, Pa., Nov. 13, 1880, the son of the Rev. Dr. Howard F. King and Lucretia (Irvine) King. His father, a noted Baptist clergyman, is still active, at the age of 88, in church work. Other survivors are his widow, Helen Baily King, whom he married March 3, 1909, three sons, and a brother, William L. King, '01. Howard came to Brown from the Mount Pleasant (Pa.) Institute and as an undergraduate was managing editor of the Brown Daily Herald and member of Phi Beta Kappa and Kappa Sigma. He had a winning and attractive personality, and all of us will long remember his friendliness and fine spirit. Since he left College Hill he had been in the coal mining and mercantile business. He also served for a time as president of the Uniontown National Bank and Trust Company. He was never too busy with his own affairs to be active in every forward civic or community project. As a friend has written: "He leaves many monuments to himself in the hearts of his fellow citizens." Foreign travel and discriminating reading helped to mellow his personality and make him conversant with world conditions. He was independent in his judgments, a real student, a gentleman and "he reflected and made use of his academic and post academic training every year of his busy life."

Dr. Charles H. Holt, Mayor of Pawtucket, is a member of the new Rhode Island State Board of Health which organized for work last month.

Fred A. Otis is now United States Commissioner for Rhode Island, succeeding Henry C. Hart, '01, who resigned. Otis's term is for three years.

Louis F. Baker has the sympathy of the class in the death of his wife, Rodericka Cantfield Baker, which occurred in Providence on Aug. 30, 1929. The class was represented at the funeral and a wreath was sent in its name. Baker's daughter is studying this year at the University of Grenoble and the Sorbonne, France.

Howard F. Hart is head of the Mathematics Department, East Orange, N. J., High School.

Dr. Bertram H. Buxton of Providence, who was a First Lieutenant, Medical Corps, 103d Machine Gun Battalion, 26th Division, A. E. F., during the World War, has been cited for gallantry in action at Bois de Belleau, France, in July, 1918. The War Department announced the citation during the summer. "Buck" had a splendid record in the war, and this recognition of it, belated though it may be, is gratifying to his friends.

Chester S. Allen is vice president of Lockwood Greene Engineers, Inc., 100 East 42d Street, New York. His house address is 79 West 12th Street.

Willis F. Avery reports his house address to be 280 Merriam Road, Akron, O. He is practicing law in Akron.

Howard F. Esten of the civil engineering firm of Esten and Black, Pawtucket, R. I., is engineer for the Rhode Island State Airport Commission which has chosen a site at Hills-grove, R. I., for the new State airport.

1905

Rev. Arthur H. Robinson is pastor of the First M. E. Church, South, in Ashland, Ky.

John H. McGough's new office is at 542 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence, where he is associated in the practice of law with William G. Troy.

Richard T. Garland was the organist at the dedication of the new organ of the First Primitive Methodist Church in Providence on Sunday, Sept. 9.

William A. Kennedy of the Grinnell Company, Providence, is the president of the Providence Engineering Society for the current year.

The Winthrop Street Baptist Church, Taunton, Mass., of which Rev. W. Douglas Swaffield is pastor, observed last June the 110th anniversary of its founding. Rev. Henry K. Rowe, '92, of the Faculty of Newton Theological Institution made the address on "Baptist Beginnings in New England."

Wesley F. Morse has left Woonsocket, R. I., to take charge of the management of the Fitchburg, Mass., store of the Goodnow-Morse-Brooks (R. F. Brooks, Jr., '07) Company. Wes has been in Woonsocket for nearly twenty years, and in that period has been unusually active in community and civic work. He has been president of the Woonsocket Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club, head of the Woonsocket Public Health Nursing Association, an incorporator of the Woonsocket Institution for Savings, treasurer of the First Baptist Church and candidate for Mayor on the Republican ticket. Mrs. Morse has also been prominent in social activities and in work with the Woonsocket Day Nursery, the D. A. R., and the women's clubs. It has been one of our regrets that the Woonsocket voters failed to elect Wes as Mayor, as we know that he would have given Woonsocket a much better name than it has politically at present.

Claude R. Branch is spending most of his time in Washington, where he is familiarizing himself with the details of his new position as a special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States and the principal assistant of Solicitor General Charles E. Hughes, Jr., '09. Claude resigned as a member of the firm of Edwards & Angell, Providence, to go to Washington. In an editorial on the appointment the Providence Journal said: "Congratulations to Mr. Branch on this recognition of his professional talents, and to the National Government on securing the services of one of our most promising young Providence members of the bar."

George Burnham returned to the Philippines in August, after spending his first summer in ten years in the United States. George wrote that he expected to see "Crummy" Watson in Buffalo and that he wanted to be remembered to all of the men in the class and Bill Reynolds, Eph Moulton and Art Bushell in particular. He hopes to be home again in 1932, in time for our 25th Reunion. His address is Del Carmen, Pompana, P. I.

Herbert L. Dorrance is Commodore of the Saunderstown, R. I., Yacht Club for the year 1929-30.

C. F. Seabury (Sjoberg) has been organizing a holding corporation, so the report is, to acquire the controlling interest in several mining enterprises in the Pacific Southwest. He lives at 5456 Sierra Vista Avenue, Los Angeles.

Dr. Harlan T. Stetson, Assistant Professor of Astronomy at Harvard for some years, has become head of the Department of Astronomy and director of Perkins Observatory, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O.

A welcome letter from Sid Paine not long ago showed that Sid is the king pin of the Textile Development Co., consulting engineers on cotton manufacturing, with offices at 60 Federal Street, Boston. Sid's work, we understand, takes him to Europe, Canada—anywhere, in fact, that a cotton business is in need of expert diagnosis and treatment.

Eddie Hempel is the new superintendent of schools in Orange, Mass. He has been in charge of the schools in Blackstone and Millville, Mass. since 1923.

Alfred J. Olsen, Jr., better known as Bob Olsen, (which is his pen name) had a short story in the September number of Air Wonder Stories under the title, "Flight in 1909." Bob also contributes articles regularly to Western Advertising and other publications. He's in the advertising agency business in Los Angeles and is living at 215 S. Le Doux Road, Beverly Hills, Cal.

Ely Palmer, Consul General of the United States at Bucharest, Roumania since 1921, has been assigned to the position of Consul General at Vancouver, B. C. Ely thus returns to the English-speaking world, after having served the United States well in Europe for the last thirteen years, first at Madrid and then at Bucharest.

Leslie Cordery was unanimously elected City Solicitor of Cranston, R. I., in August.

Patrick E. Dillon, lawyer, and active in politics for some years in Rhode Island, died at the Homeopathic Hospital, Providence, Sept. 13, 1929. The doctors said that death was due to pellagra, a rare disease in this part of the country. We hope to have a story about Pat's career—and all of us knew him as Pat—in the next issue of the Alumni Monthly.

1909

Chauncey Wheeler was in California during the month of September on a business trip.

Louis Willemin in June resigned his position as organist of the Providence Cathedral of S. S. Peter and Paul and choirmaster of the Cathedral sanctuary choir to become music director of the Bridgman Street Junior High School. A testimonial dinner was given him by the members of the choir and an emerald ring presented to him.

Dr. Billy Buffum, who specializes in the care of children, has been running a children's camp in New Hampshire during the past summer.

Milt Hunt is in charge of Y. M. C. A. work at Southport, Conn. He is doing some interesting work for the development and betterment of the boys in his community.

Chick Raymond has been on a sabbatical year but is resuming this fall his teaching and coaching work at the Middlesex School, Concord, Mass.

Major Robert Coker, Aviation Corps, U. S. A., has changed his base from Fort Sam Houston, Texas, to the Little Rock Air Port, Little Rock, Ark.

Dr. Norman H. Williams continues busy as a specialist in bringing youngsters into the world. He is one of the best known obstetricians in Los Angeles, so Lawrence Larrabee tells us.

Don Nicholson is conducting a jewelry business at 1157 South Broadway, Los Angeles.

John P. Hartigan, with Mrs. Hartigan and their daughter, Alice, attended the annual convention of the Grand Lodge of Elks in Los Angeles in July. Jack is District Deputy of the Elks in Rhode Island. He and his family came home by way of the Panama Canal.

Dr. Richard D. Allen, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of the Department of Research and Guidance, Providence, and special lecturer at Brown, was the subject of a laudatory article in a summer number of The Survey Graphic, entitled, "Records That Come Alive," by Robert W. Bruere. "Providence (through Dr. Allen and his methods) has discovered the individual child and is rescuing him from 'marks' and goose-step regimentation," according to Mr. Bruere. "It sees him not only as an individual but also as a citizen, and it is using both its financial resources and the resources of science to effect an adjustment between the child and society which will be increasingly advantageous to both."

Dr. Lester A. Round, pathologist of the Rhode Island Board of Health

since 1918, has been appointed Director of the new board which came into existence in September as a result of a law passed last spring reorganizing the State Health Commission. In addition to his work as pathologist, Round has lectured in recent years at the Rhode Island College of Pharmacy and Allied Sciences and at Providence hospitals on pathology and public health. He has had excellent training for his new position.

1911

Rev. William I. Hastie, pastor of Paseo Methodist Episcopal Church, Kansas City, Mo., came East during the summer and preached in one of the Providence churches in July. He and Mrs. Hastie and their daughter made the trip from Kansas City in a motor car given to Bill by his parishioners.

The Saunterer in the Worcester, Mass., Post had this to say about Wiley Marble not long ago: "Capt. Wiley H. Marble of this city ought to be about as much occupied as most men. Besides being absorbed in a machine business he finds time to be head of the C. M. T. C., in Worcester, to be national president of the Third Division, A. E. F., vice chairman of the school committee, secretary of the City Planning Board, State president of the Military Order of Officers of the World War, president of the Worcester Veterans' Council and hold various minor offices. And in addition he is often the principal speaker at various patriotic observances."

Stanley P. Marsh is back in Buffalo, N. Y., as special agent of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. Stanley won his Ph. B. degree at Commencement in June, and Mrs. Marsh and two of the children were present to see President Faunce confer the degree.

E. A. (Shad) Adams, former end on the football eleven and one of Brown's best wingmen, is practicing law at 814 Fidelity Bldg., Los Angeles. Associated with him is E. R. (Duke) Dukette, '14, who recently became a resident of Los Angeles. Many of us will recall Duke as a star infielder in the days when Brown baseball teams were at the top of the college list.

H. O. Werner, member of the class for three years as a special student, is an agent for the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co., and is living at 97 Carrington Avenue, Providence. His son, H. O. Werner, Jr., is editor-in-chief of the Brown Daily Herald this year.

J. H. Readio, Jr., is chairman of the general committee for the Cranston, R. I., Community Chest campaign with $25,000 as the goal for Jim and his co-workers.

Ed Hempel is a mechanical engineer with the Gorham Mfg. Co., and is living at 92 Pocasset Avenue, Providence.

Cyril Smith, for the last three years supervisor of secondary education in Barnstable, Mass., is now principal of Bartlett High School, Webster, Mass.

Nathan M. Wright, Jr., is the new president of the Mortgage Guarantee & Title Co., of Providence.

Philip C. Scherer, Jr., began his duties last month as Assistant Professor of Organic Chemistry, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va.

Sidney Clifford was named a member of the Board of Directors of the Providence Y. M. C. A. at the last annual meeting to serve for a term of four years.

Russell M. Wilson was recently appointed assistant general real estate agent of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, with which he has been connected since graduation. Russ and Mrs. Wilson and Russell Mills Wilson, Jr., six years old, thank you, live at 57 Vane Street, Norfolk Downs, Mass.

Continental Shares, Inc., the investment trust of which W. R. Burwell is president, has increased its capital by $50,000,000 and, at present, according to the financial papers, has an asset value of approximately $175,000,000. Russ went to Oxford in June to attend the reunion of the Rhodes Scholars. They say out Cleveland way that the success of Continental Shares is due in large measure to Russ's skillful management.

Percival Miller is with the General Dyestuffs Corporation, 230 Fifth Avenue, New York, and is living at 89 Maplewood Avenue, Maplewood, N. J.

Official Fleet of The Intercollegiate Alumni

One hundred and three College and University alumni organizations have selected the United States Lines and American Merchant Lines as the official alumni transatlantic lane to Europe.

Your official fleet is composed of eleven splendid ships—LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Liner, and those superb cabin liners of the United States Lines... GEORGE WASHINGTON, AMERICA, REPUBLIC, PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT and PRESIDENT HARDING... plus that ever popular quintet sailing weekly from New York to London—AMERICAN BANKER, AMERICAN TRADER, AMERICAN MERCHANT, AMERICAN SHIPPER, and AMERICAN FARMER. Great ships... magnificent ships... ships of personality!

You can go first-class, second, cabin or tourist third... swiftly or leisurely... direct to England, Ireland, France or Germany... in state rooms that measure American ideas of spaciousness... with the finest American cuisine... with stewards who speak your own language... with sun-flooded decks that provide vast arenas for sports... play bridge and dance in salons and ballrooms as luxurious as those that ever played host to a junior or senior "prom."

For rates, sailings, etc., communicate with your local steamship agent or alumni secretary... he'll be pleased to serve you.

YOUR FLAGSHIP

THE AMERICA, 21,114 tons, renowned as the "Ship of Steadiness," has been chosen as the intercollegiate flagship for sailings on June 1, July 2 and July 30... 1930.

Tom Appleget's father, Fred B. Appleget, former editor of newspapers in New York State and New Jersey and well known in the newspaper field in New York, died in New York, on Sept. 8, 1920, following an operation for appendicitis. The sympathy of the class is given Tom in his loss.

Mel Lowe is with the New York advertising office of the Chicago Tribune at 512 Fifth Avenue. His house address is 46-36 158th Street, Flushing, N. Y.

Lory Gardner is still down in Texas with the sales department of Henry L. Doherty & Co. His office is at 2022 Gulf Bldg., Houston.

Calvert Holt, member of the class during part of the Freshman year, sets himself down as a "model maker," with his home on Meads Lane, Greenwich, Conn. He and Mrs. Holt have two sons, Calvert Porter, two years old, and L. Emmett Holt, 3d, born April 10, 1920.

1918

George Heidt, business manager of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, has announced the removal of his offices to the new church building, Riverside Drive and 122d Street, New York.

Harold McKay, who has been manager, casualty lines, of the Rochester, N. Y., branch office of the Travelers Insurance Company, for the last year, became a member of the company's home agency staff in Hartford, Conn., last month. Hal has been with the Travelers for ten years, in which time he has seen service in Hartford, Syracuse, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Montreal and Rochester.

Gurney Edwards of the law firm of Edwards & Angell is the new president of the Travelers Aid Society of Providence.

Pierre Teets contributed a lively and amusing letter to W. O. McGeehan's column in the New York Herald Tribune one day in July and Mr. McGeehan commented on it in delightful fashion. Pierre, as one of the founders of the Bigger and Better Rabbit Association of Long Island and points East, described a new breed of rabbit (of Spanish and Texas parents) savage enough to chase and maul either live or mechanical greyhounds. Pierre assures us that the Bexar County (Texas) rabbits are used in tracking deer in that country; and Mr. McGeehan's only lament is that the San Joaquin Valley (California) rabbits are extinct, or the two breeds might be crossed to make a super-savage animal, capable of gnawing grizzly bears and chasing mountain lions to the tall timber. When Pierre isn't at work among his rabbit warrens he acts as clerk of the Police Department and carries on other interests in the village of Rockville Center, N. Y.

Richard E. E. Campbell is superintendent of the Coventry, R. I., schools this year. He was formerly head of the schools on Block Island.

Mark Golrick has become production manager of the Dutchess Bleachery, Wappingers Falls, N. Y., following nearly eight years of service as maintenance engineer at the Sayles Finishing Plants, Inc., Saylesville, R. I. With Mrs. Golrick and the two boys, Robert and Edward, he is living in Poughkeepsie.

Henry Samson, editorial writer on the staff of the Providence Journal, got his name into the newspapers (something which a newspaper man never likes to do) late in August because of his heroic attempt to rescue a drowning man at Old Orchard. Mr. Henry had the assistance of his brother Seneca of the class of '21, manager of the Old Orchard House, and both nearly lost their lives as the drowning man tried to drag them under in his frantic efforts to keep afloat. The Samsons, however, were instrumental in saving a woman who also went to the rescue and was overcome in deep water.

Jimmy Prosser, so the newspapers reported in August, took his bride on an eleven-day honeymoon trip by air, including Niagara Falls as one of the places visited. Jimmy is in the aviation department of the Austin Company, construction engineers, of Cleveland.

Chet Dennis, former member of the class, is a broker with his office in the Balboa Bldg., San Francisco, Cal.

George O. Dexter, Jr., is with the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of Worcester, Mass., with his headquarters at 412 Wymans Exchange, Lowell, Mass.

THE FAR-FLUNG PARTS OF AN ORGANIZATION, ITS DEALERS AND ITS CUSTOMERS, ARE BROUGHT AS CLOSE AS INSTANT SPEECH

Great strides in invention, great expenditures . . .

An Advertisement of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company

BUSINESS, using the telephone, eliminates space and time. The far-flung parts of an organization with its dealers and customers are brought together by instant speech. The home, like the office, reaches out over an ever-widening circle of neighbors.

The telephone is tireless and quick. It runs errands near and far, transacts business, keeps friendships alive. Telephones throughout the house save time and fatigue. They bring the comforts and conveniences of the office to the women in the home.

Keeping ahead of the new developments in American life calls for great strides in inventions, great expenditures in money.

The Bell System's outlay this year for new plant and service improvements is more than 550 million dollars. This is one and one-half times the cost of the Panama Canal.

This program is part of the telephone ideal that anyone, anywhere, shall be able to talk quickly and at reasonable cost with anyone, anywhere else. There is no standing still in the Bell System.

Postal Telegraph-Cable Company shortly after its affiliation with the International Telephone & Telegraph Company some months ago. His address is Postal Telegraph-Cable Company, 67 Broad Street, New York.

Del Fuller is supervising principal of Painted Post, N. Y., High School, following several years of successful work as teacher and coach in Allegany, N. Y.

Lieut. Isaiah Olch, U. S. N., who left Brown in his Sophomore year to go to Annapolis, had the degree of Master of Science conferred upon him by the Yale School of Science in June. Olch took a special post graduate course in radio engineering at Yale and has also been studying the work of radio manufacturing along the eastern seaboard.

Walter Hoving, vice president of R. H. Macy Co., New York, in a speech before the Boston Retail Distributing Conference last month said that knowledge of good taste "is essential to success in retail business." He also asserted that "it is high time that the colleges and business schools realized that their graduates must be equipped with this knowledge to succeed in business as well as for cultural reasons."

Ralph Knight and Mrs. Knight went to Los Angeles in June to attend the national convention of Alpha Tau Omega.

Harold A. Dodge is in charge of the Traffic Methods Department of the New York Telephone Company, with which he has been connected since graduation.

W. W. Wilcox, Jr., sets himself down as a journalist in the employ of the Chicago American, with his office at 326 W. Madison Street, in Chicago.

Francis E. Booth has been transferred from the New York to the Boston office of the Firth Carpet Co., in charge of New England territory. His address is 18 Boylston Street, Boston, and he says that if any of the men in the class are in his neighborhood he hopes that they will find time to drop in at the office and say hello.

Joel Nichols reports that he is with the Federal Advertising Agency, 6 East 39th Street, New York.

Stephen W. Hopkins is with Field, Gloré & Co., investments, 63 Wall Street, New York. His home is at 6 N. Brookwood Street, Montclair, N. J.

Arthur S. Caputi's new address is the General Motors Truck Corporation, Pontiac, Mich.

1922

Dr. Roger W. Nelson is resident surgeon at the Women's Hospital, 141 W. 109th Street, New York, after having been interne at the hospital for crippled children in Albany, N. Y., for a year and a half.

1923

Steve McClellan of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Corporation, Hartford, Conn., has been flying up and down the west coast, and in a letter to the Alumni Office he says that "the class of '23 is spread pretty thin out here. I do not know of any member located north of San Francisco." He tells us that Homer Faulkner makes his headquarters in San Francisco at 1466 Pine Street, as factory representative of the Watson Stabilator Co. "and has only eleven states under his supervision. Evidently the west coast agrees with 'Diz' for he has not lost any more hair and has gained some weight. He is still a bachelor." Steve went hunting for Fergus Purves at 315 Montgomery Street, "a big office building. I guess Purves sold the building to some one else a long time ago because he was not listed in the building directory and even the elevator starter did not know him. If Fergie reads the Alumni Monthly I hope he will be more explicit with his address." Steve added that George Nichol is making good progress with the telephone company in Los Angeles, with the movie studio branches as part of his domain. "He has had a pre-medical course in anatomy on the movie lots. George is living with his parents at 1181 So. Sierra Bonita Avenue, Los Angeles, is still single and divides his spare time between his beach club at Santa Monica and making his back yard a flowery paradise. He can make a good living as a landscape architect if people ever get tired of telephones."

Art Fox has again been re-engaged to coach baseball at Williams College for the season of 1930. Art has been at Williams for the last three years and has done well with the material at hand. He is also assistant football coach.

Ed Lincoln's golf game continues right up to scratch. After losing the title a few years ago, Ed came back last month to regain the championship of the Rhode Island Country Club, of which he was a member now—while you can get

The First Book FREE

A special offer—see reason for it below

GREAT many people (we know) have been on the verge of joining the Book-of-the-Month Club, but have neglected to do so largely through oversight. This special offer is made, frankly, to overcome this procrastination by making it worth while for you not to delay longer. We suggest simply that you get full information at once about what the Book-of-the-Month Club does for you, and then decide once for all whether you want to join. The mere fact that more than 100,000 judicious book-readers already belong to the organization—that they represent the elite of the land in every profession and every walk of life—that not a single one was induced to join by a salesman or by personal solicitation of any kind, but did so after simply reading the facts about what the Club does for book-readers—all these are indications that it is worth your while at least to get these facts as quickly as possible, and then (if you want to) join and get your first book free. You assume no obligation in sending the coupon below for full information.

Six distinguished foreign authors now serve as an International Advisory Committee for the Book-of-the-Month Club. The function the individuals in this foreign group perform is to keep our judges advised about what they consider the significant new books published abroad, each in his own country. The Committee consists of:

while he was on the Brown golf team. They tell us that Ed's wood shots in the match were worth going a long distance to watch.

Louis L. Redding has opened an office for the general practice of law at 1002 French Street, Wilmington, Del.

George Decker is district traffic superintendent with the New Jersey Telephone Co., and has his office at 71 Madison Avenue, Jersey City.

Bill Heeks is resident surgeon at the Babies Hospital, 168th Street and Broadway, New York.

Bill Munroe reports a change of address from South Attleboro, Mass., to 700 Prospect Avenue, Cleveland, O., which is headquarters of the Fruit Despatch Company.

Ben Harris is a commercial engineer with Peter Gray & Sons Co., East Cambridge, Mass. We proudly note the arrival of Ben's daughter, Kathleen, in another column.

George Gates tells us that his house address is 214 Sackett Street, Cuyahoga Falls, O. George is a chemist with the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., as we may have before reported.

Jim Bryden is an instructor in philosophy at Colgate, but he still claims good old Kingston, Pa., as his home.

Walter Dolbeare, Mrs. Dolbeare and Miss Virginia May Dolbeare have moved from Richmond to Norfolk, Va., where Walt continues with the Virginia Electric & Power Co. "Regards to all from Virginia," he said in a note received last month.

The death of W. E. (Bill) Kneeland in Boston on Sept. 19, 1929, came as a startling shock to all of us. Bill had been married on Aug. 31 and was preparing to settle for the year at Chestnut Hill Academy, Philadelphia, where he was head of the department of mathematics. To his widow and his father, mother and other members of his family the sympathy of the class is extended.

Arlan Coolidge sailed during the summer for Vienna, Austria, where he is continuing his violin studies at the Academy of Music. Arlan will remain in Vienna for the next year as the holder of the Austrian Music Fellowship, awarded him by the Institute of International Education.

George Ham writes that he is in the statistical department of Paine, Webber & Co., investments, 82 Devonshire Street, Boston. George and the family are living at 128 Coolidge Hill Road, Watertown, Mass.

Al Parsons was a summer visitor to the Alumni Office. He is with R. H. Macy & Co., New York, and liking it, he told us.

Charlie Barton, with an LL. B. that he received from Harvard last June, is associated with Gage, Hamilton, June & White, lawyers, Worcester, Mass.

Bob Goodell is an interne at the Hartford Hospital, Hartford, Conn.

Bartlett Van Note is a special agent with the Home Insurance Co., 195 Church Street, New Haven, Conn.

Howard Quimby, former member of the class, is aeronautical adviser with the Braniff Flying School Division of the Universal Airlines System and has his office in the Braniff Bldg., Oklahoma City, Okla.

Laurence R. Brooks is in charge of radio cabinet production for the Globe Wernicke Co., Norwood, O., and is living at 5521 Cottage Street, Norwood. "Haven't seen a Brown man since I was home in Massachusetts," he wrote us in August. "Am still single and far from the snare of matrimony. Expect to be home for a Brown game this fall."

R. C. (Bob) Locke is with the Yacht & Motor Sales Corporation, with offices at Wilmington (Los Angeles harbor) Cal.

Bobby Goff is the new secretary of the class and he will be glad to get all the live news that members of the class may furnish him. His address is Old Colony Corporation, 234 Hospital Trust Bldg., Providence.

Bill Laurans is a part owner and sales manager of the wholesale grocery firm conducted under the name of Joseph Laurans at 5 Pearl Street, New Bedford, Mass. Bill is still single, he admits.

Charlie Cuddeback is manager of the private house department of the Culver Associates, Inc., real estate, at 37 E. 57th Street, New York.

W. C. (Bill) Waring, Jr., of the law firm of Edwards & Angell, is counselor for students and in charge of student activities at the Northeastern School of Law, Providence.

Bill Lyons is with Montgomery Ward & Co., as manager of the Company's chain store in Clinton, Mass.

Hal Zantow was director of the little theatre at Sakonnet, R. I., during the summer. Hal took over the work that Professors Thomas Crosby Jr., '94, and Ben W. Brown, '19, started some years ago.

Ted MacLauchlan is living at Sedgwick Park, Woburn, Mass. Ted is still on the job as an insurance investigator, with his headquarters at 40 Central Street, Room 612, Boston.

Bill Winsor was an Alumni Office visitor last month. He is with the Standard Oil Co., domestic trade department, with his office in the Standard Oil Building, Riverside, R. I.

Hamilton Rice puts himself down as a "power representative" and gives us his house address as 43 South William Street, Bergenfield, N. J.

Harry Eatough, who received his Ph. D. from Brown in June, wrote us in August that he was with the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., at the experimental station, Wilmington, Del., and that his address for a time at least, would be 1104 Washington Street, Wilmington.

Jim Walsh blithely reports his new mailing address to be Apt. 41, 1332 Riverside Drive, New York.

The Old Back Campus at Brown

By Walter Lee Munro '79

This quaint tale of a stirring period in the history of Brown is now available in bound form. A colorful review of the pranks, adventures and activities "on the Hill" when Seniors wore sideburns and "Bingo" was the favorite college song.

Every Brown man should own a copy of this historically-correct narrative.

Alan W. Watson Dies

Alan Wendell Watson, younger son of Professor Arthur E. Watson and Cora B. (Stewart) Watson, died Sept. 3, 1929, as the result of an infection through the ear. It was believed that a surgical operation had been successful, but after three days a relapse occurred with fatal results. He had attended the Technical High School of Providence, and the Massachusetts Agricultural College. For a number of years he had been employed at landscape engineering with W. W. Reynolds, '07, some of his work being on the new Brown athletic fields, at the new Homeopathic Hospital, and in rejuvenating the extensive plot upon which stands the First Baptist Meeting House. He was in his thirtieth year and had been regarded as a conspicuous example of ordinarily fine health and physique.

Pembroke College

Faculty

Dean Margaret S. Morriss has returned from a six months' trip to Egypt, the Near East, and Europe. Miss Morriss made extended visits in Egypt, Palestine, Damascus, Constantinople, Sofia, Vienna, and on the Dalmatian coast, and attended as a voting delegate the International Federation of University Women in Geneva. At Constantinople Woman's College she saw Nermine Mouvafac, '28, who lives near the college.

During the summer there was an epidemic of weddings in the Department of Hygiene and Physical Education, which spread to all three instructors. On Aug. 8th Miss Phoebe Smyth was married to Mr. Arthur Dixon, on August 17th Miss Flora Ricker was married to Mr. Edward Hopkins and on September 2d Miss Frances Dennett was married to Mr. Charles Tiedemann. Mrs. Hopkins and Mrs. Tiedemann are continuing their work in the department. Mrs. Dixon has resigned and Miss Ruth McCoy from Syracuse University and the Central School of Physical Education in New York City has been appointed as her successor.

Concert Course

The concerts given at Pembroke last year were so successful that a second series has been arranged for the 1929-30 season. While these are primarily for the benefit of the students, a limited number of reserved seats may be had by making early application and sending a check for $10.00 for the five concerts. Single tickets are $2.50.

The series is as follows: November 4, the Roth Quartet, one of the most famous of the European chamber groups; December 12, The Aquilar

Lute Quartet, celebrated Spanish musicians, who will include in their program several selections written especially for them by the most eminent living composers; January 12, Miss Kathryn Meisle, leading contralto of the Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles Opera companies; February 25, Guy Maier and Lee Pattison, preeminent in their field, in a two-piano recital; April 2, Paul Kochanski, the well-known Polish violinist.

Pembroke Alumnae

Evelyn Johnson Bullen, 1899, wife of Rev. Walter B. Bullen, 1899, died in Newton Center, Massachusetts, on August 5th. Mrs. Bullen was born in South Sutton, Mass., and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pliny Fiske Johnson. She prepared for college at the East Providence High School and upon graduation from Brown became principal of Arcadia Seminary, Wolfville, Nova Scotia. The next year she studied at Newton Theological Seminary, Newton Center. Following this Mrs. Bullen taught at Hartshorn Memorial College, Richmond, Virginia, for two years, remaining there until she was married in 1904. At that time Mrs. Bullen and her husband took up missionary work in Japan, which they continued for nine years. For the past few years they have been living in Lee, Maine, where Rev. Mr. Bullen is pastor of the Baptist Church.

Mrs. Bullen was a member of a thoroughly Brown family. Besides her husband, who was a classmate, she is survived by four Brown brothers, Arthur P. Johnson, '88, Alfred S. Johnson, '90, Ernest H. Johnson, '91, and Edgar M. Johnson, '93, and by two nieces, Olive Lombard, '28, and Louise Lombard, '29. Her son, George Bullen, is just finishing high school.

Mrs. Bullen had always taken a keen interest in Brown, and was a member of the Alumnae Association up to the time of her death.
